

Today we celebrate the feast of the Holy Trinity. This feast may be difficult to understand it begs us to enter into the mystery of Love in Community, of Love giving birth to Love.

Today's readings show us the depth of God's love.

Moses in the first reading reminds the people of all that God has done for them: Did anything so great ever happen before? Did a people ever hear the Voice of God speak from the midst of a fire?

What are some of the great and small things that God has done for you?

Paul in the second reading reminds the people of his day - that led by the Spirit - they are children of God.

What is it like for you to be called a child of God?

In the gospel Jesus sends the disciples out to share this good news, and to be with them always.

How will you share this good news of God's love in your everyday life?

Today may we know this Trinitarian love alive and well in us, - as we reveal the face of God's tenderness to our world.
